

Joey is an active preschooler who has difficulty focusing on most classroom activities. When Joey uses the classroom computer, he is completely different. With great concentration, he is able to play a game involving letters and sounds. He expresses himself using a drawing program creating designs of intricately colored patterns.